

Open House 24: Open Call Participation in Research Program Presentation

For Open House 24, Zentrum Fokus Forschung (ZFF) will present its general conceptual framework, Sea Grapes, which will guide its series of activities under the new leadership. This framework symbolizes the opening up of the research process and fosters the potential for multiple forms of connection to elaborate what “research” is as well as could be. In line with the idea of Sea Grapes concept, ZFF invites doctoral students and col-leagues to participate in presenting your research project and ideas on research in Room 1, VZA7, sometime between 1 pm to 2 pm on November 5, 2024.

There are two possible formats for participation:

A) 10-Minute Performative Presentation of Your Research

We will set up a „speech corner,“ where you can stand on a chair in the centre of the room and share your thoughts on “research” and present your research in a ten-minute performative format. For this format, there are six spots available.

B) On-Site Library

We invite you to lend us an object, book, quote, or any item that is important to your research, along with a brief explanatory text about its significance. These items will be displayed on three shelves in the room as part of the presentation.

If you want to participate in either A) 10-Minute Research Presentation or B) On-Site Library, please contact Marianna Mondelos: marianna.mondelos@uni-ak.ac.at. The event taking place in the room will be documented.

Response Indication Deadline: October 10
Final Submission Deadline: October 14

We would be happy to discuss further details with you and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Best regards,
Miya Yoshida
